

A birthday Falconry experience

Posted At : 3 May 2011 13:54 | Posted By : Shaun McCran
Related Categories: General Interest

This is a bit of a local post, and slightly off topic, so apologies if its not your 'thing'.

It was my wife's birthday this weekend, and one of the things she has been interested in doing was Falconry. She is quite an 'animal' person, and spending time with some more exotic birds has always been on her wish list.

I had a search around and found a local Falconry center, 'Fray Falconry services' at the Chiseldon House Hotel. (http://www.chiseldonhousehotel.co.uk/aboutus_frayfalconry.php)

The owner Frank Hunt gave both myself and my wife a great session learning about and handling the birds he had on site. It was a real privilege to get close to, and see these great animals flying.

If you are in the area and you fancy a Falconry experience I highly recommend Fray Falconry. Frank knows his stuff, and has an infectious enthusiasm for the subject which really adds to the experience.

