

Transferring your contacts to the HTC Magic

Posted At : 7 June 2009 19:25 | Posted By : Shaun McCran
Related Categories: Android, General Interest, Gadgets

I recently changed my mobile to the HTC Magic. Its Vodafone's first Android powered mobile, full touch screen etc... You can read a full spec here .

I do not usually use Gmail, but the phone was directing me towards them on initialisation, so I thought I'd give it a shot.

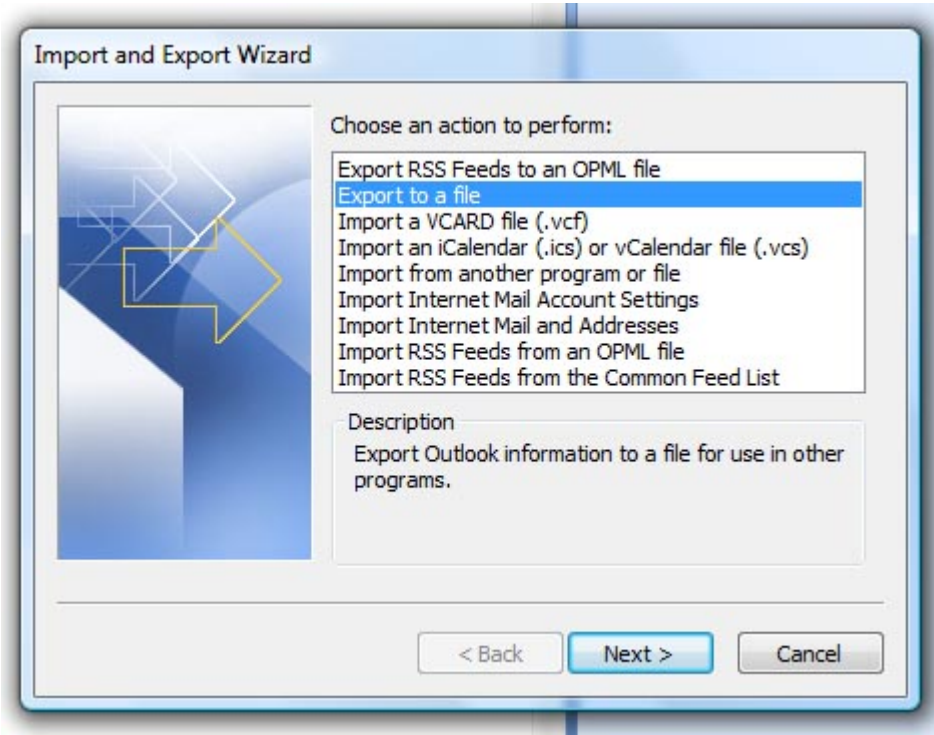

Transferring the contacts from my N95 to the HTC Magic isn't possible through the Blu tooth connection, as the HTC's Blu tooth protocol does not support data transfer.

So first thing is to get the Nokia Software.

<http://www.nokia.co.uk/get-support-and-software/product-support/nokia-n95/software>

Install this and run the backup option. After you have backed up you can select an email client to interface with. I'm Windows through and through, so I sync'd my contacts with Microsoft Outlook.

Once in outlook select 'File' – 'Import and Export'. Depending on your version you may get different options here, but in 2007 its 'Export to a file'. Click next, then select 'Comma separated values (Windows)'. Next select your contacts (or more if you want) and press next. Your data will be exported as a CSV.

Once in outlook select 'File' – 'Import and Export'. Depending on your version you may get different options here, but in 2007 its 'Export to a file'. Click next, then select 'Comma separated values (Windows)'. Next select your contacts (or more if you want) and press next. Your data will be exported as a CSV.

Import

We support importing contacts in the CSV file format (Comma Separated Values), Outlook, Outlook Express, Yahoo!, or Hotmail. For Apple Address Book, you can also import vCard files.

Please select a file to upload

Also add these imported contacts to:

So a bit long winded, but it works!